Mayor Balzotti announces new date for Summer Sunday in the Park Annual summer event rescheduled for Sept. 5

BROCKTON – Mayor Linda M. Balzotti is excited to announce that Summer Sunday in the Park, a family-friendly activity will take place Sunday, Sept. 5 from noon to 6 p.m. at D.W. Field Park.

The event had been scheduled for Aug. 22, but was cancelled due to heavy rain.

The afternoon-long event will include live music and with performances from Diamonds in the Rough dance crew, DJ Osorio, participants from Brockton After Dark, and much more.

Attendees can sample Brockton's rich cultural diversity through Cape Verdean, Hispanic, Haitian, and Caribbean foods.

A special kids area will also be set up and will include: a trackless train to ride; Creature Teacher animal demonstrations, a bounce house, and water slide; face painting, and games.

Resource tables from local agencies like the HarborOne Multicultural Banking Center, Brockton Hospital, and Small Smiles will also be on hand with giveaways.

Admission to the event, and parking are free.

This annual event is organized by the Mayor's office, in conjunction with a planning committee, as well as Project Guardian Angels and Brockton After Dark.
